

LAUTIR

REVIEWS

LAUTIR

Rituals that counteract digital distance in the classroom

Why?

With the growth of digital technologies, human warmth in discussions and processes is often lacking. The pandemic has shown that digital distance compromises the ability of students to connect with each other in the classroom.

What?

“LAUTIR” is a collection of rituals and training tools to help organize and carry out virtual meetings more meaningfully.

How?

Students and teachers participate in ritual actions that add more significance to activities and places they share, bringing them closer as a community.

For whom?

The LAUTIR collection is for everyone who participates in digital activities and wants to connect more meaningfully with others in class and in other contexts.

Juan Guillermo Fankhauser González

MA in Service Design.

Juan Fankhauser focuses on enhancing and improving services by integrating multiple players to share their knowledge and cultural backgrounds.

Bachelor of Industrial Design from Javeriana University, Colombia.

juanfankhauser@gmail.com

www.behance.net/juanfankhauser